

DON MIRAULT

Don appeared on Broadway as Zach in "A Chorus Line", he played Fred Casely in Bob Fosse's "Chicago" and was also in the Equity production of "Baby". He performed the lead adagio in the "Folies Bergere" in Las Vegas and has also worked in every dance medium from cruise lines to MTV. He has helped hundreds of dancers launch their careers with his book "Dancing...For A Living". Don has also created instructional videos including "Lifts... For Your Chorography", "Lifts...For Kids", and "Advanced Lifts and Partner Work". His master class instruction varies but includes adagio classes across the country specializing in helping male dancers and partners. "Mr. Don" (as he is affectionately known) has been involved in the dance competition and master class industry for more than 27 years. Don is the Owner/Director of TAPS (Theater Arts Preparatory School). TAPS is a six-month trade school for dancers designed specifically for the professional job market. He is also the Executive Producer for Doucette Entertainment in Las Vegas, and has been the Producer/Director for Talent On Parade's Go Pro workshops and Kidz Roc productions for the last 10 years in Branson, Missouri.
