

JEFF BLOCHOWIAK

After spending his younger years taking home titles at the state, regionals, and nationals levels, Jeff continued to use his talent for dance into college and local theater productions. Jeff began teaching and choreographing for studios all over the Oklahoma City area. His choreography has led to many national titles and the Choreographer of the Year Award from the American Dance Awards. Approaching dance with a cool and hip demeanor, Jeff makes every class fun and exciting for all levels of dancers.
